Covid-19 Coronavirus Cork CIL Service Information

Dear Service User

Novel coronavirus Covid-19 is a new virus. It is having a wide impact and Ireland is now affected with a small number of reported cases. The risk of transmission is still described as low to moderate. However, Service Users and Staff have many questions and concerns.

I am writing to share important information and guidelines as respond to the current emerging and changing coronavirus Covid-19 epidemic. This is important that you read this and try to keep yourself and those who come to your home including staff as safe as possible.

The Covid-19 Cork CIL Service User Guidelines and Information is attached. It is also available on our website www.corkcil.ie

It is essential that you read it and know what to do and where to get good information to keep yourself informed.

It is so important that you help us keep you, other service users and staff as safe as we can. At the moment Cork CIL are operating 'as normal'. This will in all likelihood change. We will follow the advice and direction of the department of Health and HSE , and we will keep you informed.

In the meantime, keep yourself informed and if you have any questions call and talk to us. If we can help, we will.

Yours sincerely

Pat Beirne
General Manager Cork CIL
